

Universität
Basel

Departement
Altertumswissenschaften

Basel Fellowships in Latin Literature

The Professorship of Latin at the University of Basel invites applications for fully funded Visiting
Fellowships (three months)

The Professorship of Latin at the University of Basel, Switzerland, in collaboration with the foundation PLS, invites applications for the fourth round of the Basel Fellowships in Latin Literature. The Visiting Fellowship Programme offers an opportunity for early career researchers as well as established scholars to pursue their research in the framework of a fully funded research stay of up to three months at the Department Altertumswissenschaften of the University of Basel.

During their stay, Fellows are entitled to make full use of the excellent resources of the University Library as well as the departmental library, Bibliothek Altertumswissenschaften, one of the world's leading research libraries for the study of the ancient Mediterranean cultures and Graeco-Roman literature.

Visiting Fellows are expected to present a paper on their research project, and they are invited (but not obliged) to participate in the various research colloquia and other events at the Department Altertumswissenschaften. The Fellowship's main objective is to offer Fellows a period of exclusive research time.

Stipend and allowances

Researchers appointed to the Basel Fellowship are expected to be in residence at the University of Basel for the duration of their Fellowship; they will be offered a workspace at the Department Altertumswissenschaften and granted full access to the facilities and resources of the University Library and the Library of Department Altertumswissenschaften. In addition, the Fellowship covers the cost of suitable accommodation, typically at the University Guest House, travel expenses of up to CHF 1000.– as well as a stipend of CHF 1500.– p/m to contribute to the general cost of living.

Scientific Board

Cédric Scheidegger Laemmle (Basel, Programme co-ordination)
Bob Cowan (Sydney)
Ingo Gildenhard (Cambridge)
Jordi Pià-Comella (Neuchâtel)
Catherine Steel (Glasgow)
Katharina Volk (New York)

Duration

We currently advertise Fellowships, with a duration of up to three months (minimum stay of one month), for the University of Basel's Autumn Term 2024 or Spring Term 2025 (full term: 16 Sept – 20 Dec 2024 or 17 Feb – 30 May 2025 respectively). The starting date is flexible but the Fellowship must be in agreement with the University's full term (overlap of at least two weeks). Closing date for applications is 03 May 2024.

Eligibility

- Excellent research project with a focus on classical Latin literature
- Doctorate and a minimum of 3 years of post-doc research experience
- Duration of the Fellowship must overlap for at least two weeks with the University of Basel's full term (see above)

Application documents

- Letter of motivation, incl. details on the envisaged duration and start date of the Fellowship
- CV (max. 2 pp.) and list of publications
- Proposal / exposé of research project (max. 5 pp.)
- Closing date: 03 May 2024 // applications to be sent electronically, in one single pdf, to fellowships-latinistik@unibas.ch